Bio— distrikt

Kolubara

Connecting Nature and Community Rooted in Organic Principles

Kolubara Bio-district is the first biodistrict in Serbia and one of the first in this part of Europe.

We bring together centuries-old agricultural traditions, people, innovation, tourism and cultural heritage, creating a community where collaboration drives positive change.

WHERE ARE WE LOCATED?

Located in the heart of Western Serbia, the Kolubara Bio-District is more than a geographical area – it is a community that promotes and supports organic farming and agroecology, protects nature, preserves biodiversity, safeguards heritage, and connects tradition with innovation

ROOTS THAT PULL FORWARD

Our goal is to inspire and guide other regions in Serbia and beyond.

WHAT MAKES US UNIQUE?

- * Innovation grows here—in our fields and gardens through organic farming, collaboration, knowledge sharing, and solidarity
- * We protect and nurture the natural and cultural heritage of this region
- * We are part of the international map of organic /bio-districts/ecoregions
- * We are proud holders of the “Grand Tour Bio Destination” recognition

WHAT WE OFFER

- Knowledge and hands-on experience through trainings and workshops
- Agro, rural, eco, and educational tourism tours
- Festivals, markets, and fairs
- Visits to local farms and landmarks
- Authentic local products

WHO MAKES UP THE BIO-DISTRICT?

The Kolubara - brings together organic farmers and producers, rural tourism and hospitality hosts, entrepreneurs, youth and women’s organisations, students, teachers, researchers, public institutions, and local community.
